Animal Ear Protectors

Inventor: James Williams

Publication Number: US 4,233,942

Product Description: We all want the best for our beloved furry friends and nothing is worse than watching them soil their ears as they are eating their food! To keep those pesky kibble bits out of Rover's, we present to you, the Animal Ear Protectors. The device provides an easy to open plastic tubular shaped component used for containing and protecting each ear of the animal. It also includes two straps, one that passes over the head, and one that passes under the chin. Both of these straps are adjustable to accommodate the various sizes of animal heads. Let's just hope you don't have any narrow doorways.
